ADMINISTRATION

From the Chancellor...

I am grateful to the Editor of the Garnet '65 for this opportunity to extend greetings to all students of our University. I wish to offer my congratulations to all of those who have given leadership to the many fine student activities and publications that have featured this academic year of 1964-65. As always I am very appreciative of the courtesies and hospitality offered so generously to me by student officers and the participants at the many events I have been privileged to attend.

I would also offer my congratulations and best wishes to those who will become members of the graduating classes of 1965. May your futures be bright and challenging, and may you remember with pride and pleasure your student days at Sir George.

To all Georgians, I send my best wishes and warm regards.

Satorno

From the Principal...

It is my privilege, through the kind invitation of the Editor of Garnet '65, to offer my congratulations to all members of the graduating classes of 1965 and my best wishes to all students of Sir George.

This exciting year of 1964-65 will be well portrayed in Garnet '65, I am sure, and will recall to us the many excellent events that took place. The Henry F. Hall Building is now visible on our Montreal skyline and is an appropriate symbol of our growth and development. I would hope that there are many less tangible symbols in our minds and hearts of the intellectual progress and personal attributes that have been added to our lives by this year of endeavour.

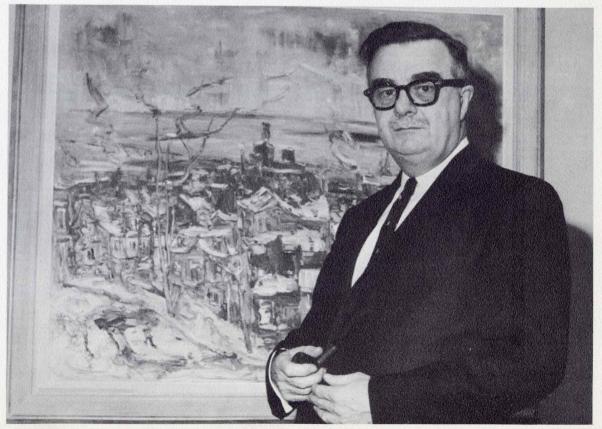

May each of you be blessed with happiness and stimulating opportunities in the years to come.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

What then is the purpose of this convocation? For if it is simply to receive our degrees and then to walk complacently away into a limbo twilight, our years here will have amounted to little more than insipid exercises in pedantry. And such an outcome would be, in itself, meaningless in quality and stultifying in character. This does not mean that we should not feel pride in our current achievement, or dignity in our presence here, but rather that this pride should be tempered with responsibility, and that this dignity be refined with sincerity. Every idea merits consideration, and every concept deserves analysis. All ideologies are worthy or reflection, and no credos are immune to interrogation. Diversity in opinions is essential for the attainment of a sound education, since no man can pass as truly learned who has examined only one part of any issue! So let us now resolve, at this time, and at this place, before this assembly, that we will approach every topic as open to discussion, and every sentiment as subject to a greater or lesser measure of doubt. For herein lies the function and the value of education.

> Excerpt from the Valedictory Address, Graduating Class, 1965, Arnie F. Fradkin, Valedictorian

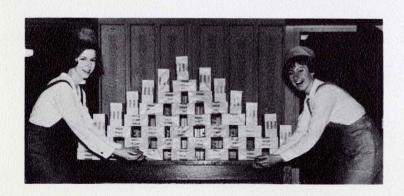

Building Fund Campaign ...

In au aura of Hanleyism, candybarism, and hard-sellism, the Building Fund strove ever onward.

Aiming at providing the Student Activities Center with decent furnishings, the new outdoor campus with grass, and the GARNET office with ashtrays, the motto of the Committee "Excelsior Excelsior, Please Don't Use Ordinary Straw" pushed all and sundry onto greater heights.

Whos Sir George?

The size the new Place In style we have Touring the new Bldg. In style, no less.

Sure, and there IS an ethnic dichotomy in St. Anne's.

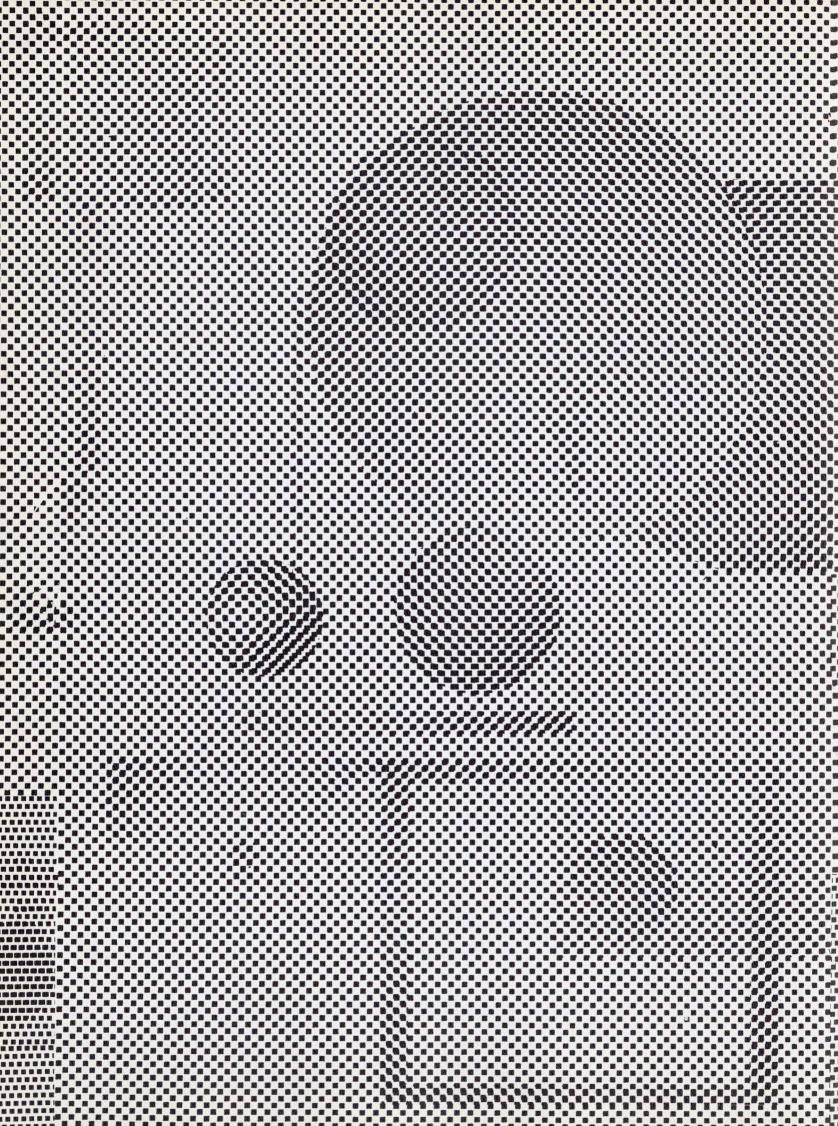

To raise student interest and cash for the New Building, the Building Fund Campaign was inaugurated just after New Year's.

Blitzes were blitzed, tours were toured, and trillions of yummy Penguin bars were sold to unsuspecting Georgians and civilians alike.

Henry Roy—Chairman of the campaign was feted for his efforts, and received an SUS award—not to mention a few words of praise from the Principal.

The Business Seminar . . .

The one-day Business Seminar held at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel by the Business Club was one of the successful club events of the year.

Mr. Leonard Hines, President of CIL, was the keynote speaker at the seminar, holding forth on "The Future of Business-Human Relations."

Attended by three hundred Georgian Commerce students, the seminar broke up into study groups — providing the basis for what promises to be an annual event.

Carnival '65...

For most Georgians, Winter Carnival '65 began at the north-east corner of Place Ville Marie.

In five-below weather, hardy collegians highstepped their way out of frostbite, to the somewhat earth shaking tones emanating from the CKGM Satellite.

Climaxing this chilly event was the crowning of the Winter Carnival Queen—the yummy Miss Louise Ely by Jacques Lebreque, of next-door fame.

Although most of the floats never survived the mortal blows received when dropped down an elevator shaft, the parade was, to say the least, memorable.

The princesses distinguished themselves by dropping out for coffee after fifteen minutes in the cold, cold, air of Dorchester Blvd., while the Garnet-Prism-Georgian float was kind enough to redecorate the streets with multi-coloured papier maché.

... chilly, but colourful.

The pièce de résistance was, of course, the police escort the parade received on its final lap up to McGill Lower Campus.

Everyone agreed that the motorcycles added that certain touch of je ne sais quoi to the proceedings.

Garnet only regrets that no photographs were taken of the expressions on the faces of the parade's innocent passers-by.

They reflected every emotion known to man.

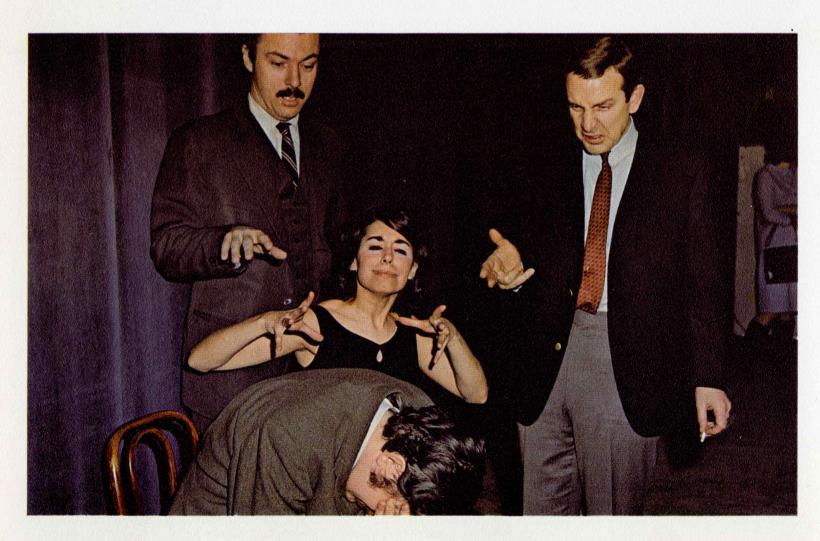

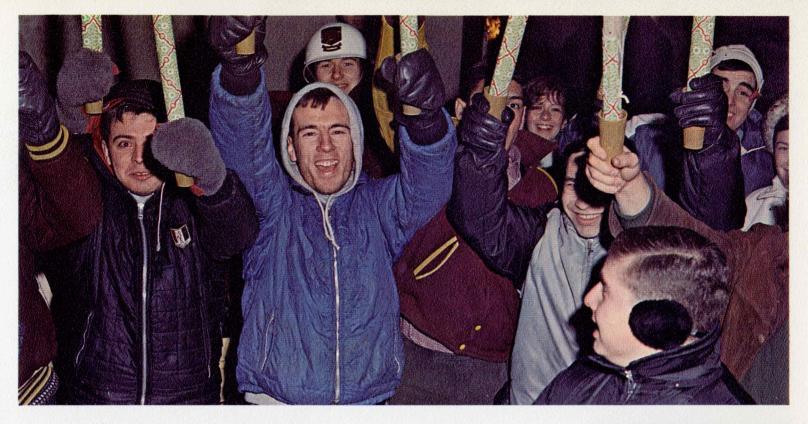

M.C.'d by Ross Smith, the Variety Show, held at the St. Denis Theatre, featured such notables as the Newlanders, and most especially, the Second City Review — a satiric troupe from Chicago.

car rally.

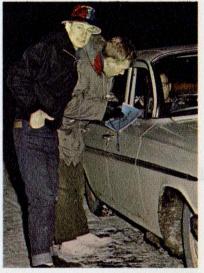

Snowballing in Lower Campus turned out to be less successful than anticipated. In an epic battle against our archfoe—McGill—the Georgian team, through sheer ill luck, went down to an 8-1 defeat.

Later on in the day, at Blue Bonnets raceway on Decarie, Georgians and cars alike prepared to venture out in rather horrible weather on a trek comparable only to the retreat from Moscow.

Sturdier members of the student body eventually made it to the Vaudreil Inn, only to be confronted by every collegiate within forty miles of Sir George. The Night Out was heavily populated, to say the least.

The Day Up North, at St. Sauveur, proved to be yet another Carnival hit. While schussminded Georgians littered the slopes, otherminded Georgians littered the Lodge.

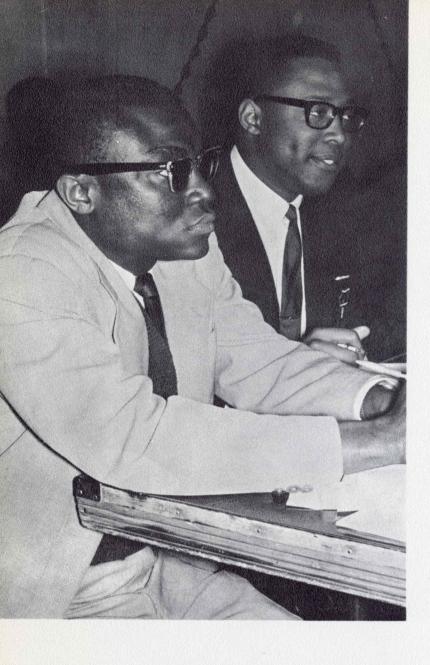

In summing up, it was a good Carnival, difficulties and disappointments notwithstanding.

In true style, the Model Parliament began with a speech from the throne, delivered by J. A. Lord, and a showing of home movies taken during the flagraising ceremonies in Ottowa.

The government (formed by the Liberals) then proceeded on such interesting orders of business as the abolition of the Monarchy, immigration, and Medicare.

Although frought with every point in the book, including those of order, privilege, clarification, and interest, the government bills finally went through, with the mixed blessings of the NDP and the PC's.

The true highlight of the session was the private member's period, when such gems as the abolishment of capital punishment and McGill were introduced.

International Week . . .

Sugaring-Off at Mount

St. Hilaire

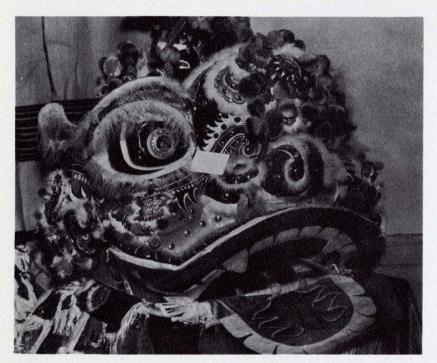

Sir George's first Sugaring Off Party and Fertility Rite was held at the chief instigation of Serge Poirier and Georges Landry; both of the Cercle Canadien Français.

Although the sap didn't run on time for the event, Georgians made up for it by pouring various grades of beer on the fresh new snow, and lapping.

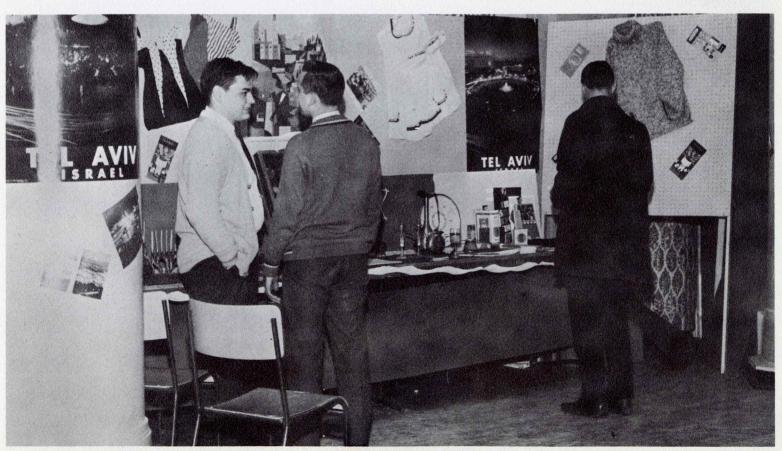

The International Exhibition, in Budge Hall (semms that everything is in Budge Hall) rocked the casual observer with a veritable ragout of industrial displays from North America, Europe, Asia, and Africa.

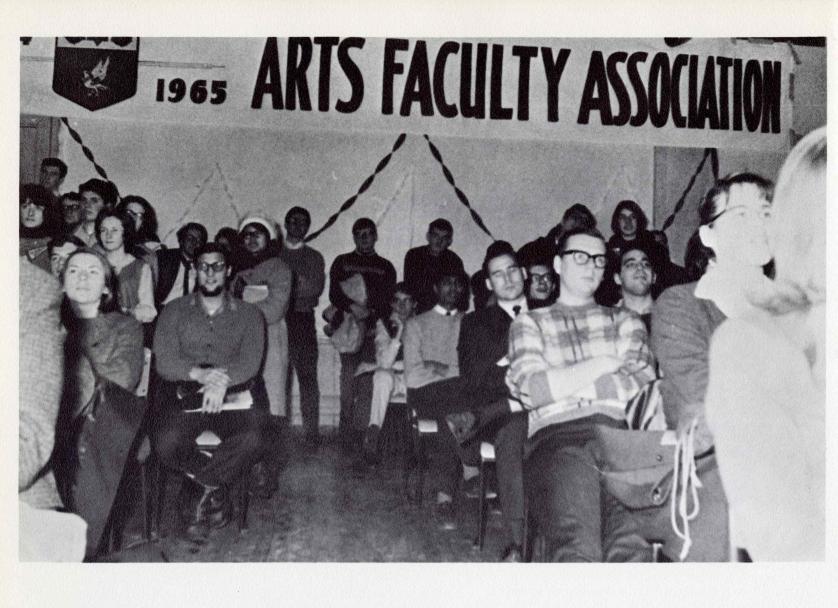

Following this were the International Banquet, a movie and lecture series, and a closing Ball (pictured a few pages over).

Keynote of the week-long event was the federated spirit of the exhibitors, who had sacrificed the traditional separate ethnic weeks, and produced a combined effort of good quality, favourable impact, and a good deal of co-operative prestige.

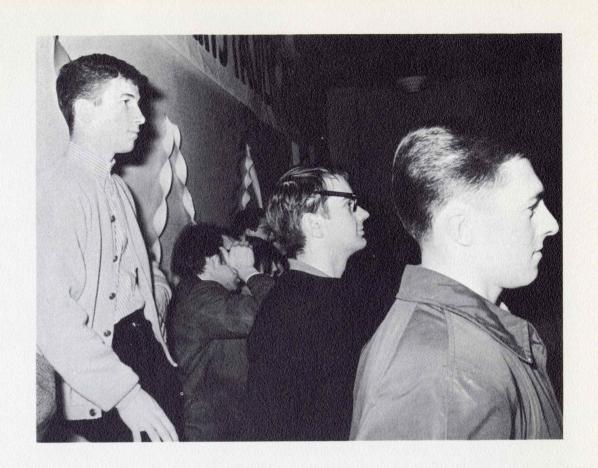

The Georgian Film Festival '65...

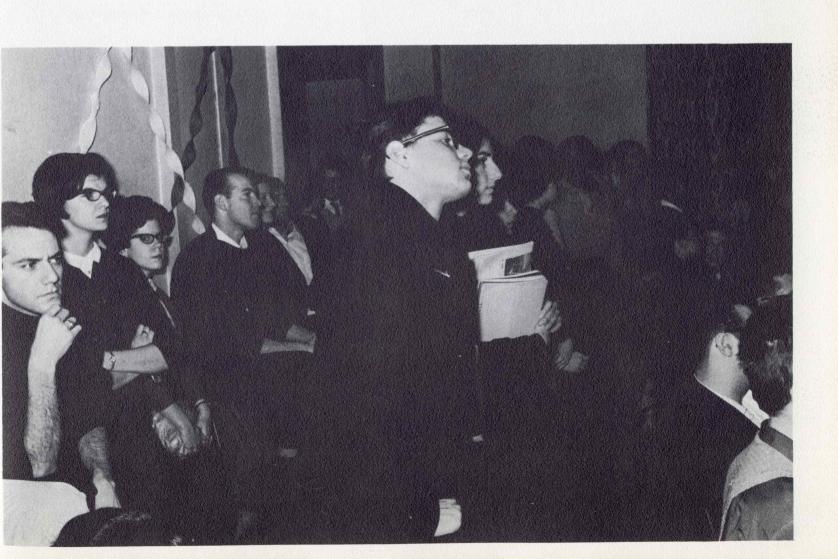

The 1965 Georgian Film Festival, sponsored by the AFA; devised, created, and produced by Arnie Keller was one of the best things produced at Sir George this year.

Featuring such films as "Jules et Jim", "Hallelujah the Hills", "Night At Marianbad", and "Yojimbo". The Festival provided Georgians with solid entertainment, and a lesson on how a successful programme can be run.

Garnet kudos to Keller.

The Arts Faculty Association's Series of Distinguished Speakers (shown on the surrounding pages) enabled Georgians and civilians alike to view the individuals, who with or without our consent, presently shape our collective futures.

Beneath the beaming countenance of AFA Prexy, Barry Beloff, the speakers held forth on topics as divergent as Judy LaMarsh's invective against collegiate smoking, eating, and drinking, and Melvin Belli's vivid expose of Confederate Judicial practices. Highlighting each speaker's appearance was the presentation of parchment scrolls and the wild applause following. It would, of course, be a definite faux pas to omit mention of the sumptuous manner in which that Acropolis of Sir George — Birk's Hall, was suitably decorated for each individual. It was crepe paper for the masses.

The series was marred only by the absence of Mr. Diefenbaker, who unfortunately was unable to appear, and who was replaced by The Honourable Mr. Dinsdale, M.P.

Seen here in full battlereadiness, the Canadian Officers' Training Corps and Regular Officers' Training Plan Cadets of Sir George enjoy the bountiful sunshine of the Canadian west.

It wasn't easy (temperatures hovered around 90 degrees), but they showed the old Georgian spirit, just the same.

You mean a command tank has no gun? No M-G? No rifles.? No pistols? No bubble gum . . .

Gag.

Scratch one ground hog.

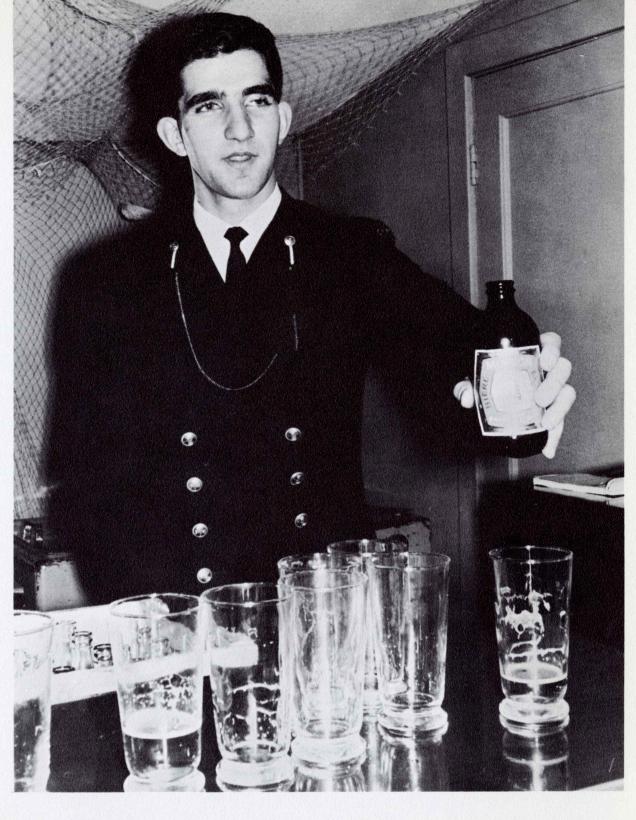

Theoretical training began this winter with an integral training program in which the Sir George and Loyola service units swapped mess nights.

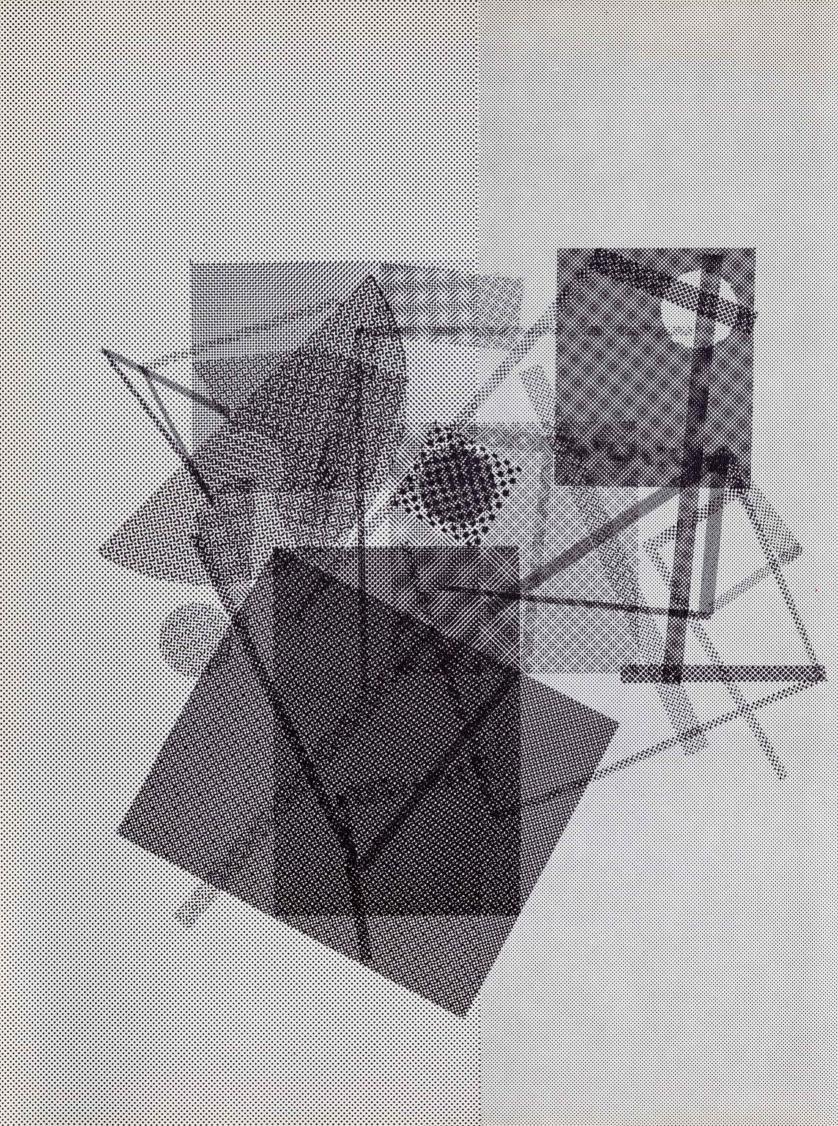

After Christmas, however, all three services from Sir George, Loyola and McGill took tri-service training at each others' home messes.

Thus began cadets' initiation into the mysteries of the governments new policy of service integration.

CLUBS

Clubs Commission

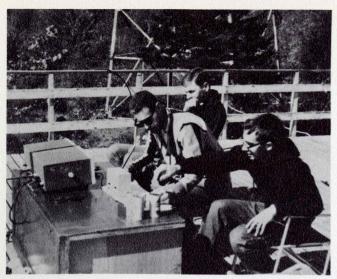

From left to right: Charlie Wexler, Helen Trofimiak (Chairman), Frank McGillvaray, and Zandra Scott. Clubs Commishmen all.

The Clubs Commission of the Student's Undergraduate Society is a partially autonomous organization responsible for the jurisdiction and efficient opperation of approximately 57 Clubs, ethnic organizations, and interest groups.

Under the able leadership of Helen Trofimiak, the Commission is able to boast more student participation than any other student organization.

I'm just a friend of the editor's.

Tarzan, Jane, and Chita examine their newest addition to their tree house.

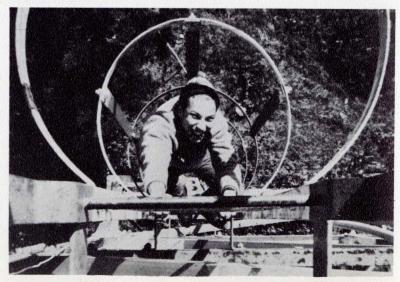

The Amateur Radio Club consists of about twenty members whose main purpose was to obtain a ham radio license. To attain this end, much practice in morse code and in radio theory must be carried out. With a station in the club's commission, (call letters VE2BAW) the club is in the process of obttining better equipment which will enable them to take part in the network of ham radio clubs across Canada. This will also provide a message-handling service for students away from home. Activities during the year included hidden transmitter hunts, technical movies, tours, and the annual "Field Day."

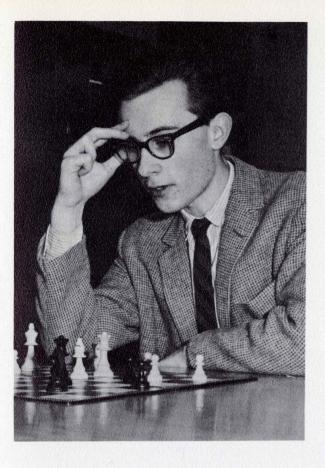

President Lanny Conroy shows some of his executives how to operate their newest transmitter.

O.K.! You've had it Peter Pan! Let's see you fly down from there.

Well sports fans, we did it again! Our Chess Club not only defeated to team from that house on the hill (sic-McGill) but went on to place second in the Championship Tournament of Eastern Canadian Universities. Besides attesting to the many fine individual efforts, the success enjoyed by this club demonstrates the degree of achievement possible when both day and evening students combine their efforts to attain a common goal—VICTORY!

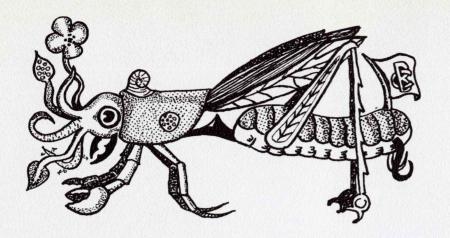

Of course, one of the advantages of joining a club is the opportunity of meeting new people—(the pretty co-ed on the right, for instance).

Spontaneous activity can be profitably directed, as the vigorous activity of the Bridge Club graphically illustrates. Meeting thrice-weekly in a vacant classroom—("No card-playing permitted in the Common Room.")—these ambitious Georgians whiled away numerous enjoyable afternoons. Then too, organizated teams participated in intercollegiate tournaments.

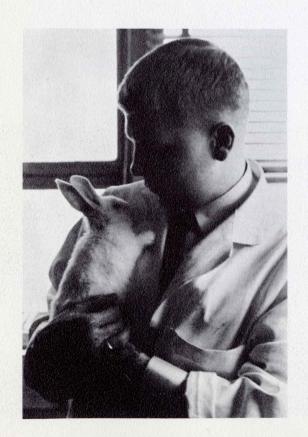

Mascots have long been a college craze and in keeping with this trend, the Biology Club has one that is exclusively theirs. This amiable little rascal can be seen by the adventurous brave enough to venture into the jungles of the Biology lab. Oh yes! Its diet consists mainly of little white rats and human fingers.

The Biology Club aims to give its members an insight into the biological sciences and allow them to obtain a wider and more educated view of the associated sciences. Through a series of films, guest speakers, lecturers, and field trips, the club presented a programme of interest to all its members and to other interested students who attended these activities. With colourful and tempting displays during Science Week and at the club's rally, they attractied many new members this year. Next year the club hopes to expand its activities further and invites all interested students to join.

With the inauguration of a Geology Dept. this year, it was felt necessary to form a club in this field. The Geology Club, under President Peter Thomson, is affiliated with the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. This year's programme consisted of films, speakers, informal talks, discussions by club members, and adisplay of industrial minerals at Science Week. Next year the club hopes to sponsor several field trips as a part of their regular programme, and as a complement to regular studies. Its main purpose this year was to initiate a programme and to help develop an interest in the expanding fields of Geological Sciences.

Pres. David Matthews-Allen

This year the Psychology Club endevoured to give the student body a cross-section of this fast growing discipline. The programme focused on such areas as clinical, experimental, child, comparative, and industrial psychology. Tours to the Verdun Protestant Hospital and to the Allan Memorial Institute were conducted and several informative films illustrating some classical studies were screened. The club was also privileged to present prominent guest speakers on the psychological sciences and for the first time it participated in Science Week.

The Chinese Georgian Association was founded six years ago to promote mutual understanding between its members and other fellow Georgians. Social and cultural activities are an essential part of fulfilling their purpose. These activities are planned to meet the needs of both old and new members. The "Eastern Star", published annually acts as a medium for their writers and poets.

Operating on the campus for the past nineteen years, the B'nai B'rith Hillel Counsellorship is one of 270 such Jewish student organizations throughout the world. It provides a programme of religious, social, cultural, and service activities. Hillel also seeks to foster the survival values of the Jewish heritage, stimulate interest in Judaism, and its affiliated institutions, promote leadership qualities, and encourage inter-religious and cultural harmony with all students on the campus. This past year, Hillel added to its series of forums a number of lectures given by Rabbi S. Cass on the history of the modern Jew. Their lecture forums included a panel discussion on the university and moral values during which Dr. Hall, Dean Greer, Dean O'Brien, and Dean Peets gave their views. The highlight of the year was Hillel's presentation of "Come Blow Your Horn" held in conjunction with the McGill chapter of Hillel.

The West Indian Society, under President Shah J. Kahn, aims to aquaint the general public and particularly fellow Georgians with the culture, arts, and way of life of West Indians. They encourage national consciousness among West Indians abroad, and sponsor national friendship within the society. Also, they try to cement international relationships with other national clubs on the campus. Another object of the society is to advertise Sir George Williams University in the West Indies, and to render any information concerning the university and its activities to the students there.

Since 1958 the Newman Club at Sir George Williams has tried to foster a fellowship that deepens the spiritual, intellectual, and social interest of the Catholic students on our non-sectarian campus. The Newman Club is an international organization and thus most secular universities are affiliated with it. The club presents guest speakers, lecture series, discussion groups, and social activities as a part of its programme, and the Newman Centre has many facilities which are readily available for the use of the members.

Two French-Canadians of the fairer sex displty their choices for the International Week symbol.

The "Cercle Canadian—Français" was founded in the fall of 1963, and from a small membership, it has now grown to include approximately one hundred members, who participate together in various activities chosen to satisfy their common interest in the French-Canadian culture.

This year, under the able direction of President Hubert Marcoux, the "Cercle" organized such activities as conferences, films, group discussions, and participation in a French radio program. It also took the responsibility of organizing its share of various International Week activities, particularly the exhibit and dinner. Furthermore, it acted as host to three hundred fellow students at a sugaring-off party held in late February as part of International Week.

In the future, the "Cercle Canadian—Français" will strive towards the goal of including in its membership all French-Canadians at Sir George and all others who, having a workable knowledge of French, are interested in the aims of the "Cercle."

Pres. Hubert Marcoux waits anxiously for the termination of the meeting.

In 1953, the Ukranian Club was formed at Sir George Williams with the purpose of promoting Ukranian culture, tradition and heritage. The Club sponsors Ukranian Week and takes part in such activities as International Week. Thus it becomes part of the cultural media on campus and aids in promoting understanding between foreign and Canadian students.

Delegates to the annual Zionist convention enjoy a hearty meal with added refreshments also provided.

The Student Zionist Organization of Sir George Williams, under President Dave Portney, attempts to interpret to college students the history, meaning, and promise of Zionism and the State of Israel. It provides each member with the opportunity to become aquainted with significant aspects of Jewish cultures and aids them towards creative self-fulfilment with the ideals and achievement of the Zionist movement, including Alayah to Israel. It also tries to create an atmosphere of understanding and respect for Israel on the North American college campus. Their programmes, held both on and off campus, included speakers, seminars, conventions, panel discussions, and folk dancing and singing.

The Economics Society takes the student one step further than in the classroom, both in practical and theoretical economics. This goal is achieved through a series of guest speakers who are invited to address the students on various aspects of economic theory and its application to everyday business practice. And, for the first time the society will publish an Economics Journal.

The Georgian Christian Fellowship, under President Robert Christensen, seeks to deepen and strengthen the spiritual life of students and to lead them to a personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ as our saviour. It also emphasises the essential duty and privilege of every Christian to take a definite interest and share in worldwide missions . . . to give and pray and serve where God directs. Weekly meetings with guest speakers and bible discussions were conducted every morning possible.

Pres. Edcil Wickham

Prof. Michel Brian of English 221 fame ponders over a particular point during his discussion of "The Trend to Nudity."

In the Student Christian Movement, the students look for the meaning of life in the light of Christian ideas which are examined and discussed openly and frankly. The Movement consists of all regardless of religious persuasion. In line with our search for meaning in life, the programme has been consciously planned to answer such questions. Among the more serious events, the executive invited staff and faculty members to informal discussions over coffee.

President Isidore Havis and his executive examine the latest Perry Mason novel.

The main purpose of the Pre-Law Society is to promote a better understanding of law and its effect on society. They carried out a varied programme which consisted of noted speakers such as Frank Hanley, a tour of St. Vincent de Paul, and a mock trial. Elections for the executive were held and a new constitution is being planned. The total programme ranged from international relations to local politics so as to bring an appealing, informative series of activities to the greatest number of people.

The society han no hand in this judging, but they certainly wish they did!

Shucks! That's nothin! You should have seen the one in front of Champs!

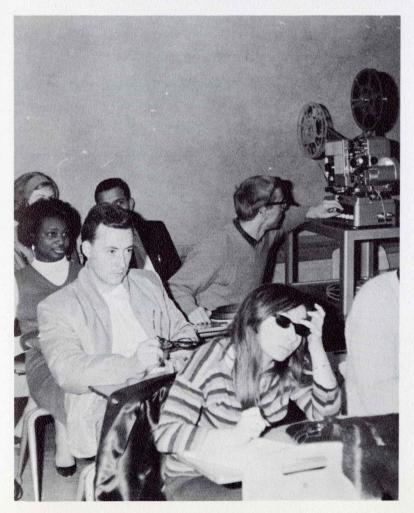

Flamboyant Frank Hanley emphasises a point during his annual visit to the University.

The Sociology Club, led by President Brian Heath-field, worked actively to educate and enlighten its members, both old and new. This was achieved through a series of films and guest speakers relating to the varied and wide field of Sociology.

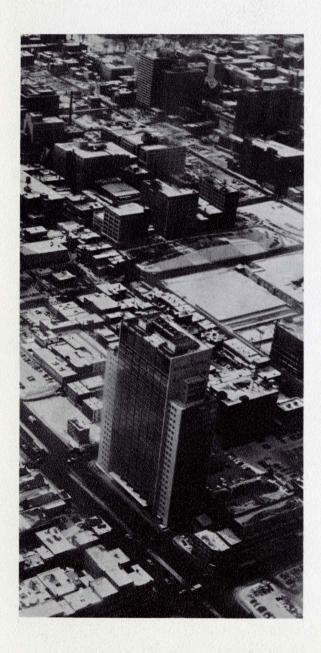

The United Nations Club was only formed this year but immediately took an active part in campus life with a series of films and guest speakers. The club, represented by some of its members, took an active part in U.M.U.N. held at the University of Montreal.

President, R. J. McGrory (centre), briefs some members prior to a flight.

The purpose of the Aeronautic Society is to stimulate and promote an interest in the field of aviation. Its function is to educate members in the principles of flight and allied subjects and to create and extend a fellowship based on an interest in aviation. All students of Sir George Williams University are eligible to be members and experience the exhiliration of flight. The 1965-66 Project is to design and construct prototype aircraft. These aircraft will be flown exclusively by members of the Society.

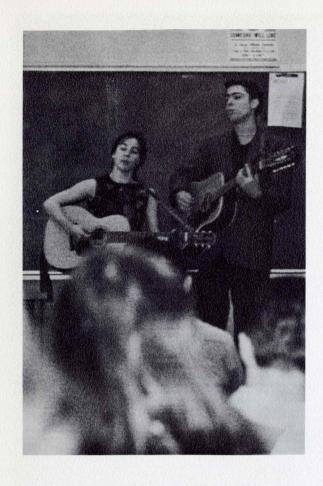

The Combined Universities Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament is a movement of students and faculty members who recognize the threat to civilization and have organized to examine this problem and to work towards its solution. It believes that the Arms Race is such that it inevitably erodes all human, moral, and cultural values of civilization, and that its only logical outcome is the total destruction of human life. A study group will investigate the international conflict areas and will suggest alternative methods of conflict resolution. Also, a seminar, in conjunction with McGill, is being planned.

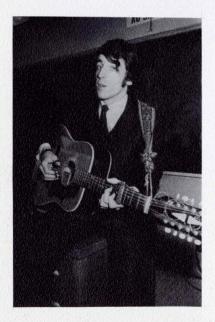

For the hub of the Folk Music Society, their main task this past year has been to acquaint the students with the various forms of folk music. Students already familiar with it were encouraged to enhance and broaden their scope. The bi-weekly hootenanies featured outside and "homebred" talent — among them blues, ballad, and topical singers. A student concert was held in December to encourage their participation. In February, one of the greatest blues singers and guitarists of modern times, Mississippi John Hurt, appeared at Sir George compliments of the society.

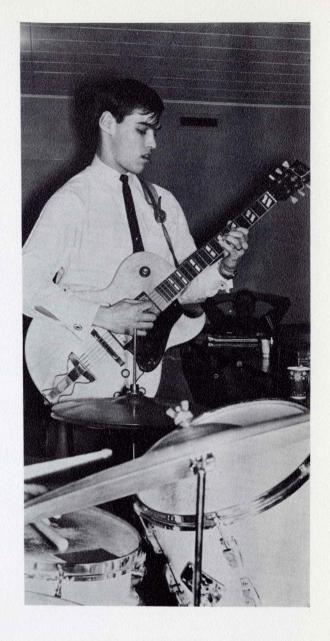

Even "Beatle-type" singers made an appearance at the hootenanies.

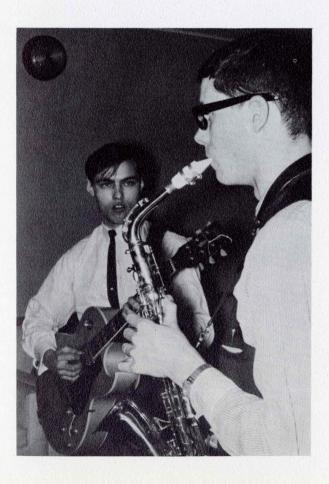

What is jazz? This is the question the members of the Jazz Society try to determine either by playing or by just listening to exilurating rythm of a famous artist via the phonograph. Thus the enthusiasts have a chance to express themselves musically through the many jam and record sessions. The society tries to promote an interest throughout the university and hopes to, in the future, present a wider and better organized programme of jazz.

The Sir George Williams University Liberal Club, under President Len Meitin, has again experienced a successful year with a great increase in membership and participation. Among the prominent speakers presented by the club were—John Turner, M.P. for St. Lawrence — St. George; Milton L. Klein, M.P. for Drummond — Athabaska; and Jean Luc Pepin, M.P. for Cartier. In short the club has continued to strive to fulfill its obligations as a campus political club. In working towards this end, it has won recognition on campus and throughout the province and the nation.

The New Democratic Party completed a successful year of activities. The club doubled its vote for seating members in Model Parliament and was able to pressure the Government into Medicare legislation. Interesting speakers drew large crowds, pointing to an awakened consciousness among the social democratic student population.

The NDP is a moderate club in the social democratic tradition. It promotes Economic planning to meet the crisis of automation, and public works schemes to meet rising unemployment. It rejects nuclear weapons and unnecessary defence expenditures. In the coming year the club will continue to advocate the programming necessary for a modern, sophisticated society.

President D. J. Bercuson during a heated meeting.

A frequent guest speaker at Sir George . . . Egan Chambers.

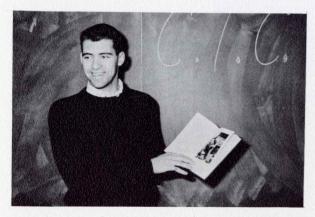

All students should make an attempt to come into contact with the political ideas that exist in this diversified nation which we make our home. There is no more excellent opportunity to discuss and develop our own political ideas than in a university political club where we will meet not only fellow students but also those who have made a life in the art and science of politics.

Our whole programme was designed not only to win the Model Parliament elections, (which was not achieved this year) but to provide the interested student with a solid base of political awareness. We thus urge all interested students to acquaint themselves with our club. We are not asking for your vote in Model Parliament, rather we are asking you to become well enough acquainted with politics that you may cast an educated vote.

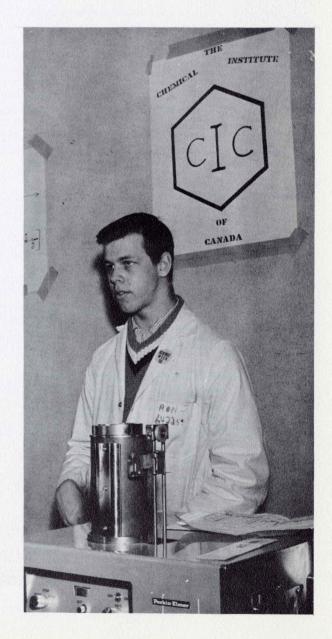

This year the Chemical Institute of Canada had the largest student membership since it came into existence at Sir George. Guest speakers from Shell Oil and "Expo '67" visited the university and instructive tours of Noranda Research, CIL and Domtar were conducted. The chapter's aim is to give the student a better insight into the different fields he may enter after graduation and its programme is orientated toward this end.

President Stuart Ross

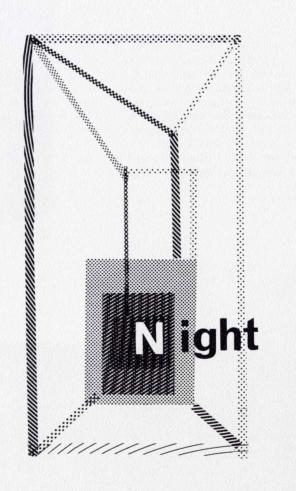

1964-65 was an active year for AIESEC-Sir George. Last summer they were host to thirty-five European students. During their traineeships these students were introduced to various aspects of Montreal & Canadian Culture; an aerial-view of Montreal, a tour of the harbour, a camping weekend and several social weekends. Membership has doubled this year, as has the number of students sent overseas. This summer nine Georgians will be working in various parts of Europe. AIESEC-Sir George was represented at three congresses this year. The first was held at McGill, the second at Laval University, and the third, an International Congress, held in Helsinki, Finland during the first week in March to effect the exchange of traineeships.

President Peter Scherzer and his right-hand woman, Exec. Secretary Pat McGuire.

The Georgian Business Club is dedicated to providing the student with an opportunity for self-development and encourages him to become more knowledgable and derive a wider scope and interest in business affairs. The G.B.C. in cooperation with the Commerce Faculty Association sponsored the Business Seminar — "Human Relations in the Future of Business." Another major project was "Success '65" supervised exclusively by the G.B.C. They look ahead to nert year with anticipation and hope for many new members.

O.K., it's a deal. You give me a cigarette and I'll let you have two lumps of sugar for your coffee.

President Sandee Barrer at work

The Evening Women's Association provides extra-curricular activities and organizes social activities for the evening women students. They organized a movie and two dances as well as a very successful Children's Christmas Party. The E.W.A. also co-sponsored, with the S.U.S. Social Committee, the Christmas Ball at which Carol Wardman was crowned "Miss Evening Student Queen." Planned for the second semester was a "Spring Fling" to be held in March.

The Chess Club, under the able leadership of Gerald Rubin (also number one star player) completed a gratifying year of activities. Working in conjuntion with the day division club, the two formed a formitable team of stellar competitors and the end result was success. The team, representing Sir George, in their first year of competition placed second in the Canadian inter-university championships. The team also defeated the U. of Norwich in Vermont and on the basis of this victory, they were invited to the New England Intercollegiate Championships.

The club met weekly and a great number of interested participants gained valuable experience and a greater knowledge of the ancient game of chess.

President Barry Lawson and members of the Ski Club's executive

The Ski Club has now become one of the most popular clubs for evening students with a steadily increasing membership. The ski trips to the Laurentians, Eastern Townships, and Vermont provide an opportunity for working, evening students to ski on many of the hills at reduced rates. This year a Ski Chalet, located in St. Sauveur and within easy reach of various ski hills and eating establishments, was rented so that a complete weekend programme could be provided. Members of the Alumni Association and Administrative Staff graciously acted as chaperones for these trips. Thus the Ski Club successfully accomplished its goals for serving the evening students.

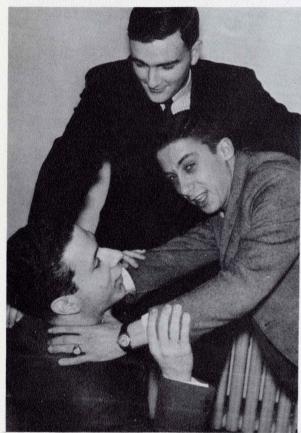

Pres. Lawson packs his baggage for the weekend

Typical, joyous coed after an enjoyable ski weekend.

The Liberal Party is the party of reform, progress, and new ideas. It is a non-doctrinaire, political movement based on the concept of the dignity and worth of the individual. This is a pragmatic party, opposed to the limitations of rigid political dogma. It respects the right of difference of opinion within the party. A Liberal is one who believes in Liberal principals, not necessarily Liberal policies. Liberalism avoids the pitfalls of extremism, by standing for the middle path. The role of the Student Liberal is twofold: he must act as the policy maker and the conscience of the party. Club policies, drafted in the form of resolutions, are submitted at the yearly conventions of the Liberal Federation. If passed at the conventions, they become official policies of the Federation to be passed onto the Party and thus be included in the official platform. The Evening Student's Liberal Club was formed early in January 1965, but despite its tardy beginning, it has progressed rapidly and among its first functions was to send delegations to the national and provincial conventions.

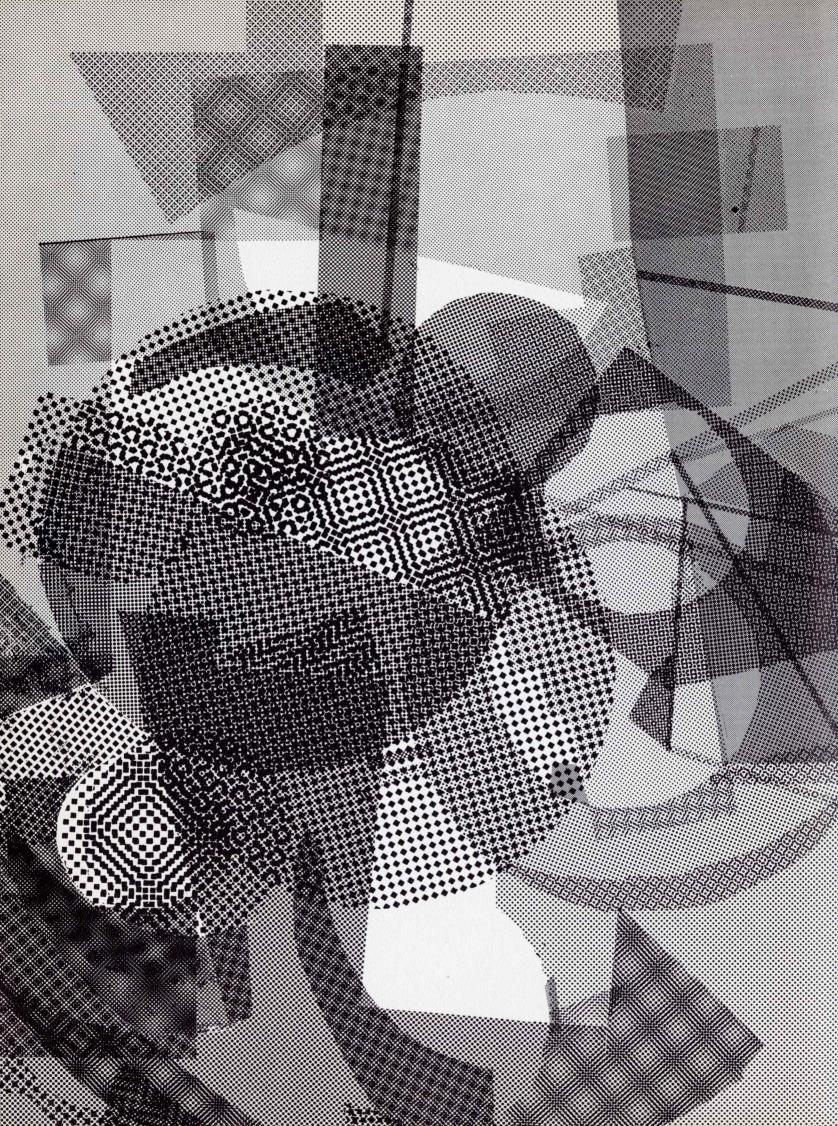

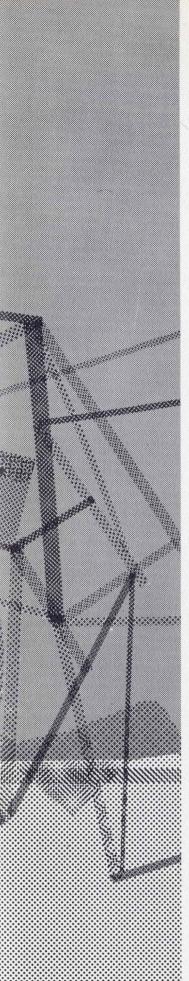

The Night Owl is the representative organ of 8420 evening Georgians, and as such it tries to inform and entertain. It is the only news media between the evening student organizations and you, the student body. The paper tries to create an interest in these campus clubs so that more students will be able to reap the benefits of such extra-curricular activities. If we are to succeed in our purpose, it is the students who must help us achieve our goal. The 1964-65 policies of the Night Owl have aroused more than passing interest, and so next year our aim is to become more purposeful and helpful.

SPORTS

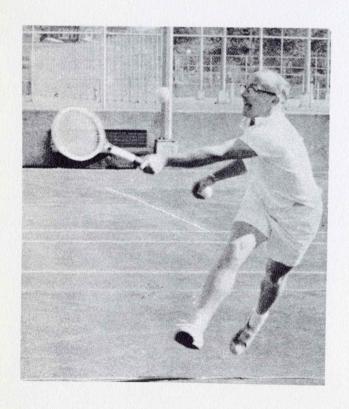

Tennis

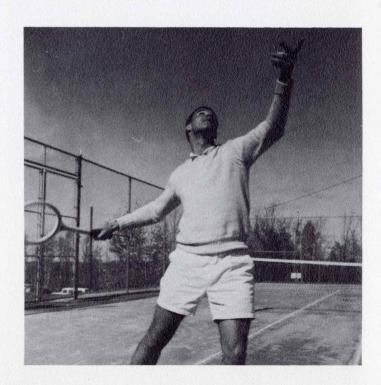

Ending a fairly successful season, the Georgian tennis squad (shown at left) managed to come out well in front.

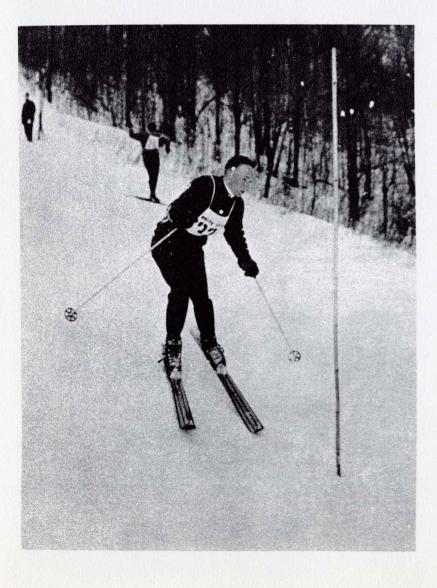

Perhaps some may stare at the fuzzily portrayed gentleman at the bottom of the page and wonder.

Well, wonder not. It is Dave Baxter's great-grandfather who decided that the team needed some octegenarian aid.

Skiing

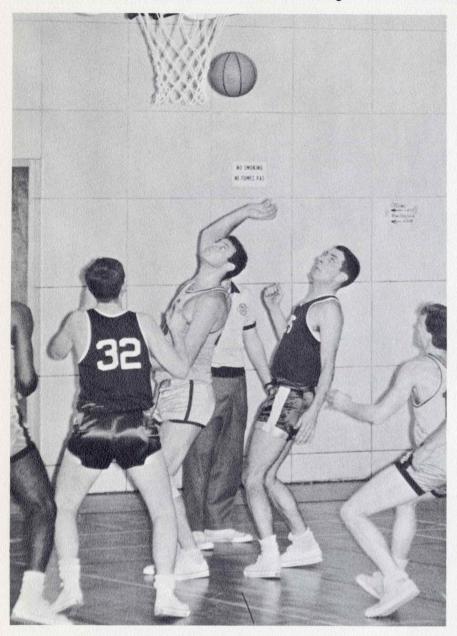

This rather obscure page is composed of some rather blurry pix of the 1961 skiing team.

As to what happened to the '65 team —don't ask us. We don't know.

Quite frankly, our photographer chased after the schuss bums for two months, and couldn't find them.

You can't win them all.

Varsity Basketball...

The defending Champion Varsity Basketball team fought their way through a rough schedule of exhibition matches with several teams from New York State Colleges.

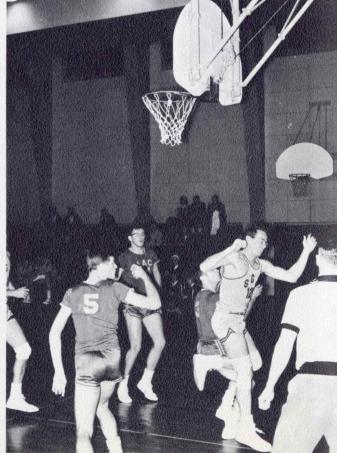

They put in an excellent showing at the Acadia Invitational Tournament held in the Maritimes in November.

At Christmas they hosted four top small college teams from the US at Sir George's own Invitational, and MIT captured the trophy for the second year in succession.

In OSLAA play, the Varsity, under the leadership of Coach Al Hirsch, played their way through a sixteen game schedule to capture fourth place in the final standings.

At the OSL finals at Carleton University in Ottawa, they reluctantly gave up the league championship to a strong Carleton team, after freezing the Ravens out of the championship for three years

Standouts for this season's Varsity five were John Elliott, the high-scoring rearguard, Robert Nathan, a deadly outside shooter, and Captain Bob Habert, high scoring centre.

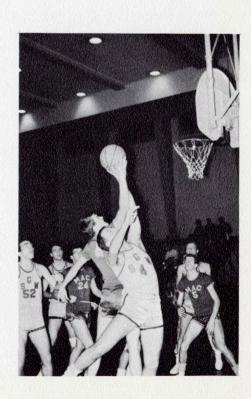

Many of there cagers will be returning next season to form the nucleus of the 1966-67 Georgian squad.

J.V.'s Dribble on ...

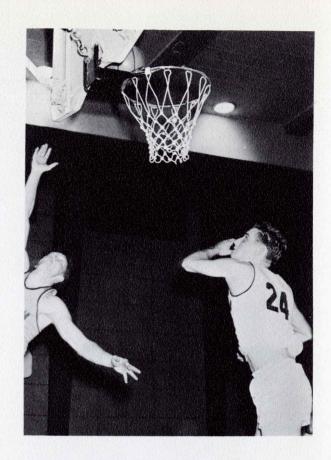

The Junior Varsity Basketball team for 1965-66 was restricted to freshman Georgians only for the major part of the season. They were slated to meet older and more experienced squads in both their league and their exhibition tilts and performed admirably despite their relative inexperience.

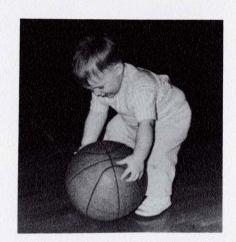

In City League play, the Freshmen scrapped their way to an early season lead, and hung on to it for the balance of the Schedule.

Other teams in the league were St. Joseph's Teacher's College, the McGill Indians, and the Cadets from College Militaire Royale in St. Jean Quebec.

At season's end they were in a three-way tie for first place, and were narrowly beat out in a two-game total points series for the league honours.

With an average age of nineteen, these Freshmen will provide some excellent material for next season's Varsity five. Two of this season's standouts who are sure to make an excellent bid for a varsity position are forward Brian 'tiger' Cunliffe who was selected as this year's most improved player, and Larry Dallas, who got the MVP award for the Junior Varsity.

and the Georgians resume the attack.

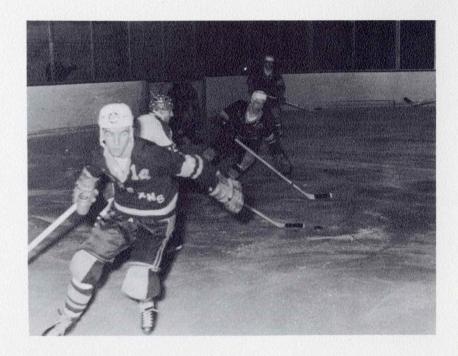

After making a slow start in OSLAA competition this season, the Georgian Hockey squad came through with the important lateseason victories and went on to win the OSLAA Hockey championship for the second season in a row.

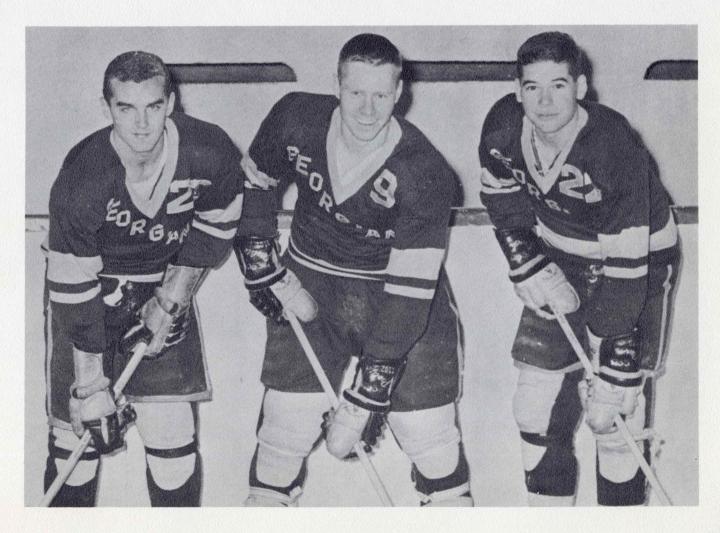

Although several starts were lost through graduation, Coach Paul Arseneault took his team through a tough exhibition schedule in the fall, and prepared them for the important games of the OSL schedule after the Christmas break.

In late season play the Georgians were in second place behind the heavily favoured Ottawa University Gee Gees, who had not lost a game all season.

The Georgians were set to meet Ottawa in the season final, but the Gee Gee's didn't show up.

In OSL play, the Georgians defeated Carleton in the semi-final and met a surprisingly strong Loyola squad for the Championship.

SPORTS, CANDIDLY...

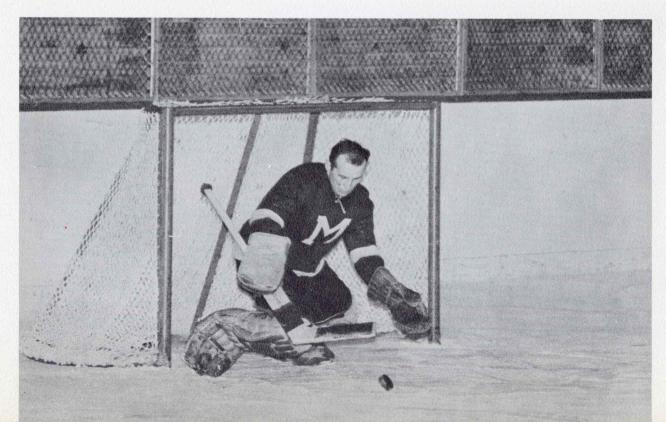

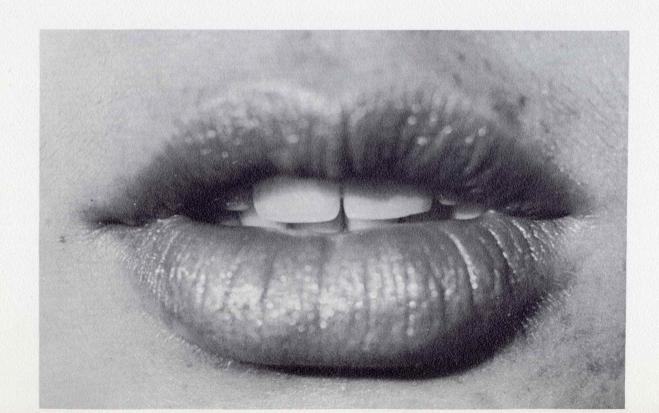

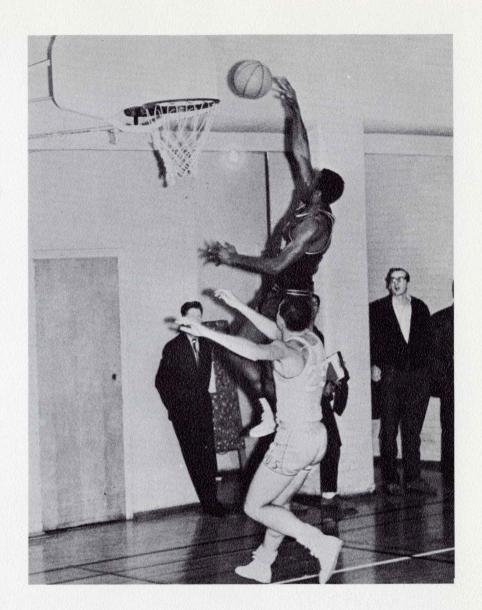

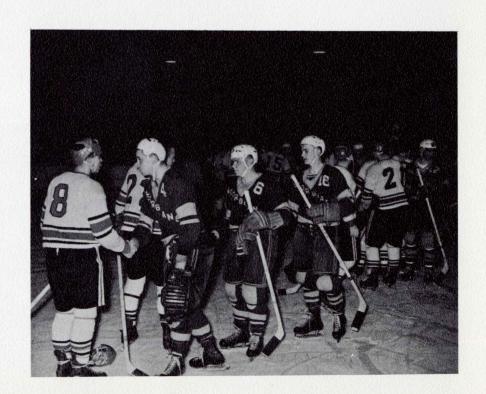

Second...and Climbing

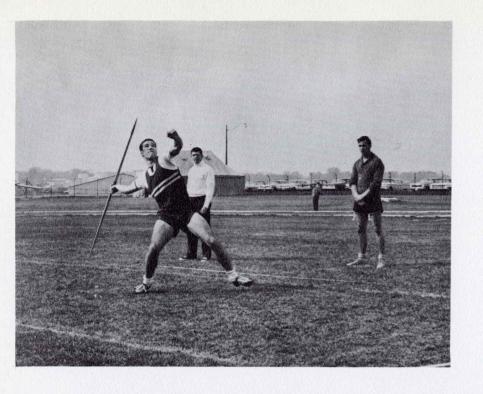

Georgian track is on the way up. The picture is not upside-down. Two years ago we managed 14 points, last year 39 . . . this year 55 and second place. You might see people running around the basement taking their twice daily constitutional, well its only the track team.

These boys work hard and considering the space they have to run around in they are quite a good bunch.

Bribery and coercion, famous words at the time of going to press were not used in mentioning (honorably) Doug Singer, Mark Arnold, and Dave Baxter but we feel they deserve it.

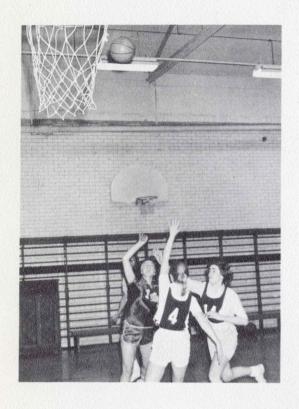

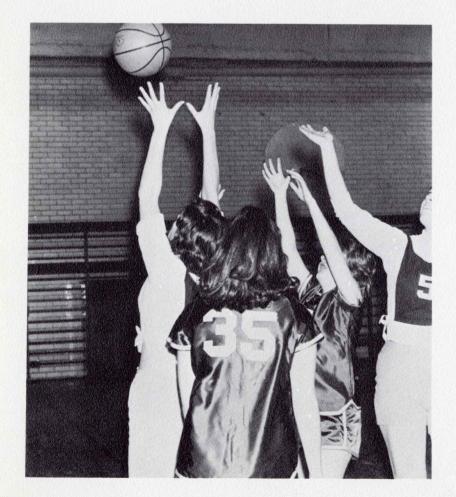

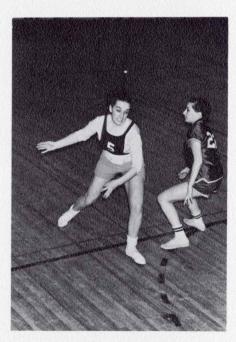

Say... Did You Know...?

Yes, we know now. We do have a girls Basketball team and they are a credit to the court. They are doing great and that we got straight from the ladies . . . mouths. Of course we could ask for statistics, you know games played games won, games lost, but we thought that the figures spoke for themselves. What do you say?

You gotta shake it up baby ... shake it up baby ... do the twist ...

YEARNING....

Like Napoleon's soldier, who carried a marshal's baton in his knapsack, the young man setting out upon a career today carries with him his own chances of ultimate success. Learning power can fit him for the responsibility which accompanies earning power. Equally important, however, is that drive from within - yearning power - toward personal progress.

Stelco's progress has always been built by the progress of individuals, and there will always be places among the people of Stelco for young men, and women, whose ambitions are based firmly on learning, earning and yearning.

Note how the science of photography is able to immortalize the keen interest of last year's students.

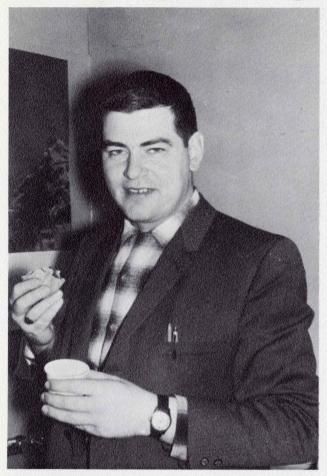

Use the wrist, not the hand, use the wrist, not the, use the, eh?

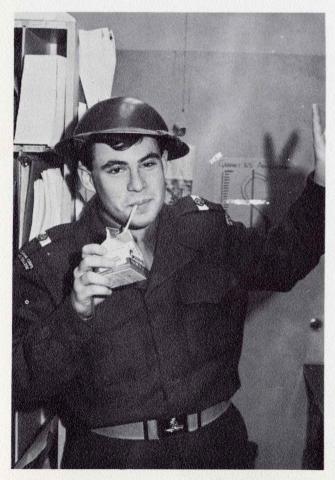

Who IS Sir George?

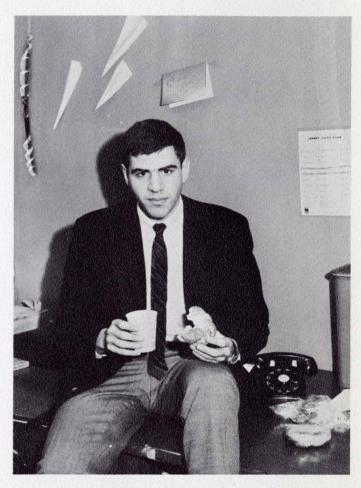

Georgians Feed

Pew! These whortleberry sandwiches (made with real sand) are getting me down.

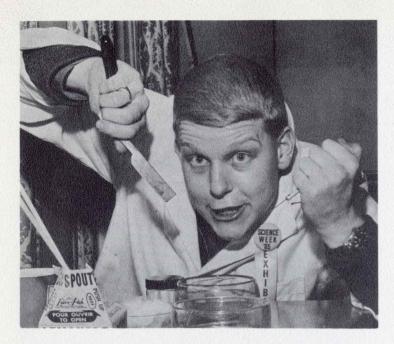

Yeah, you've used pictures of that rat-fink over 240 of the total pages. Sheesh.

True. And man, are we hard up for candids.

Send up a pastrami and a six pack. Also don't tell Val about Fifi, Georgette, Lilli, Veronica, Monique and Sam.

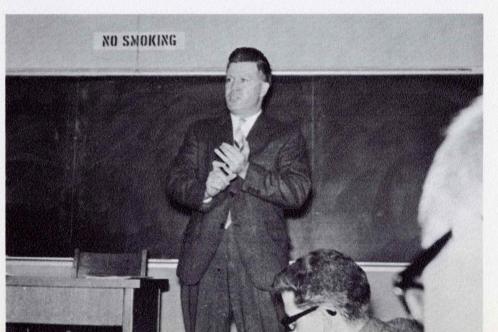

Eeeeee! Eeeeee! Slaver.

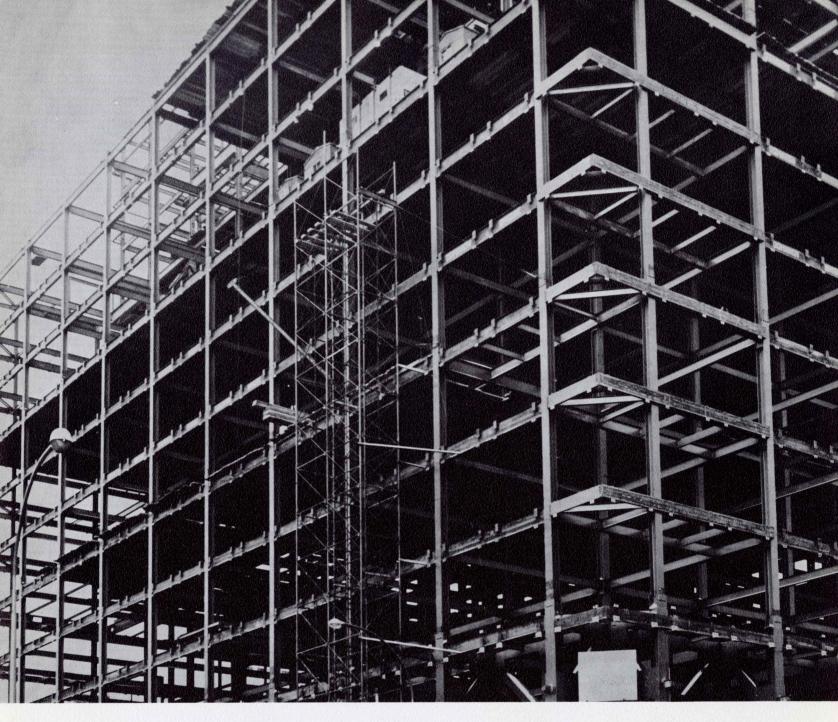

Aaargh. I bin shivved.

Eb?

This page is thoroughly obscure.

Perini Construction

No, I can't really play it, but if you whistle a few bars I can fake it.

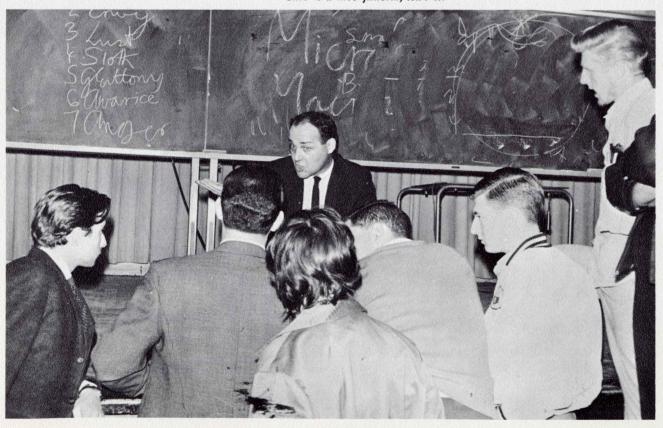

Und ven you poosh de leedle lever, de "Vy" Caff kaput goes.

This is a typical French-Canadian dinner. Maple syrup in the Lobster Newburg? Eh?

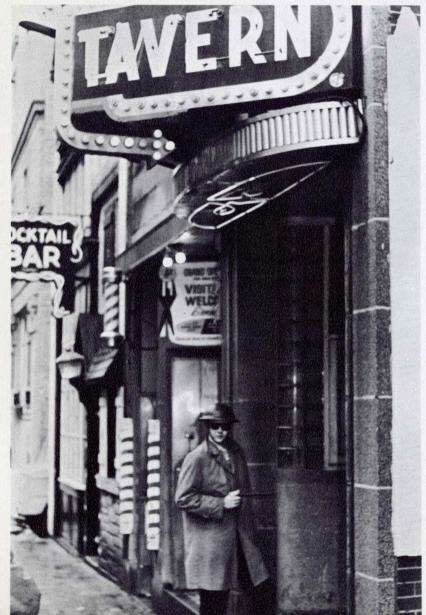

Sure is a nice funeral, isn't it?

We can't all be perfect.

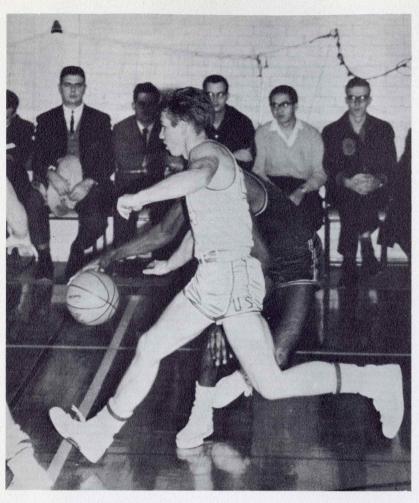

Dr. Pavlov where are you.

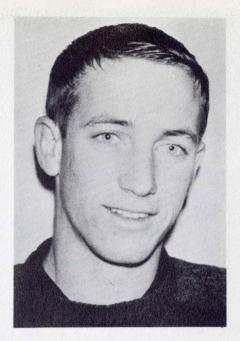

Seduced and Abandoned.

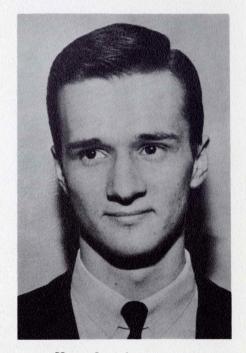

Arrch hak harrumph, hak arrgh - air-raid warden, hak farrumph, harumhak - shelter. Hak.

This is the why all right.

Please send pennies and a bear trap.

Hmm. Scratch one Int. VP.

Yes, President Johnson has created within himself a yardstick with which to measure public opinion.

... and I get the last word!

With the closing of the final pages of GARNET '65, an editorial statement is in order. It is difficult for the editor of a yearbook to write anything of interest to the student body. This editorial, therefore, is not for the students, but is devoted solely to the past editors of GARNET.

I have discovered something that former editors already know. Running an annual is not easy. There is neither glamour, recognition, or cash in it. The work is hard, demanding, and upon occasion, extremely time-consuming — although certainly never dull; never boring.

It does offer something much to its credit; something of which no other type of publication can boast. It offers an immense challenge, and a great deal of personal gratification.

Each and every annual is the brainchild of its respective editor. It is essentially his mind, his influence, and his vision that bind together the individual pages. The glue and the thread are merely tools of convenience. They arrange in chronological order the tumultuous torrents of the editor's conceptions and perceptions. They enable the reader to decipher the sensedata received by the editor, and assimilate them within their own frames of reference.

There is only one way to read an annual; to understand it, and to appreciate it. This is the way in which it is read by the editor, and through the editor's eyes.

This book is therefore dedicated to all who read it. It is theirs to peruse, enjoy, retain, or discard at will. I truly hope you will like it. In fact I'm sure you will.
